

QUESTION: Is creation right?

ANSWER: Yes, creation as taught in the Bible (Genesis 1:1-3:24) is absolutely correct. It is a literal, factual account of how God made the universe, the earth, mankind, and everything else. Our children have been indoctrinated with the teachings of evolution for so long, that we have forgotten that there was once ONLY the teaching of creation as in the Bible. Great men of science in the past were believers in God, the Bible, and biblical creation. Galileo, Sir Isaac Newton, and many others believed the literal account of creation in Genesis. Many scientists, doctors, and teachers today believe in creation, but they are not given "equal time" along with evolution, in order that people may make a choice based on hearing the facts from both sides. In fact, both creation and evolution look at the same facts, but just draw completely different conclusions. The facts are the same, but how you look at them makes all the difference in the world.

It takes just as much "faith" for the evolutionist to believe that all life came from chemicals in the primordial "soup" as it does for the Christian to believe it happened just as God said it did. The Bible answers some basic questions about life that the theory of evolution cannot answer. These questions concern the origin of matter, the origin of life, and the origin of man as a religious being. Also, there are some very interesting questions about SPECIFIC things that evolution cannot answer. For instance, we know that reproduction is essential for the continuation and survival of any species. But the question is: how is it possible for the species to reproduce when their reproductive organs are still in the process of evolving? We are left with conclusion that "CREATION" IS MORE CREDIBLE THAN "EVOLUTION".

- Genesis 1:1 "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth."
- John 1:3 "All things were made by Him: and without Him was not anything made that was made."
